INTERESTING SERVICES AT PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

Services which began Sunday at the Presbyterian church are growing in interest daily, with services morning and evening. The morning service is at 10 o'clock and the evening service at 8:30. Rev. Mr. Scott of Valdosta is assisting with the preaching and Rev. Mr. Dendy is leading the music. The public is cordially invited to attend the services.

SINGLE SIX CLUB.

The Single Six entertained at the Barnes restaurant Saturday evening in honor of Miss Polly Brannen, who left Tuesday for an extended Western trip. The members of the club are Misses Polly Brannen, Isabel Hall and Mamie Hall, and Messrs. Harry Cone, Harold Shuptrine and Bob Lester.

BIRTHDAY PARTY.

Mrs. Paul Carpenter delightfully entertained a number of children at her home Tuesday afternoon in celebration of the eighth birthday of her son, Paul Edwin. Forty guests were present. Miss Pennie Allen assisted Mrs. Carpenter in making the occasion pleasant for the little ones. At seven o'clock ice cream with crackers was served.

FOR WEDDING PARTY.

On Tuesday evening Miss Kathleen McCroan entertained with three tables of bridge in honor of Miss Annie Sharpe, Garrett and Mr. Joseph Lee Brown, whose wedding was an event of Wednesday evening.

Playing were Miss Garrett, Miss Margaret McKinney, Miss Mary Louise Cooper, Miss Garrett Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Thad Morris, Lee Brown, Allen Brown, Cecil Kennedy, Wendall Oliver and Grady Johnson.

The meeting was opened with a short prayer. Mrs. J. L. Zetterower, our much-loved president, took charge of the business for the hour.

Our report for the past four months shows we have made 874 visits to the sick; $43.35 given to the poor; 200 trays; 113 visits in interest of the Sunday-school; 200 flowers; 300 magazines. We have had two girls to graduate and feel proud of them.

We expect to school another boy or girl next year. The class decided to buy a new pulpit seat for the church. The class is never idle. If you want anything done, just call on the T. E. L. Sometimes our job looks big but we always go over the top.

After business hours we all enjoyed talking and planning together. Group 1 served delicious sandwiches and tea. Everyone enjoyed the meeting. Hope to have all the members with us next time.

SUMMER SCHOOL TO OPEN NEXT WEEK.

We shall begin a five or six-week session of summer school next Monday morning, June 18, at 8 o'clock.

The primary purpose of this summer school will be to enable students with conditions to work off these conditions where it is possible.

We do not wish any students whose work is such that it will be impossible for them to pass off their work during the session of summer school.

It is probable that we may offer classes to those who may wish to review preparatory to taking the county school examination in August, and such course will be offered if a sufficient number apply.

Reasonable rates will be charged for all work, and bills must be paid within one week of entry.

The school will be conducted in the graded school building, and a sufficient number of teachers will be provided to amply care for all work offered.

PROTECT YOUR COTTON FROM THE BOLL WEEVIL.

I want to inform the farmers of Bulloch county that I have accepted the agency for the sale of Weevil-Nip in this county.

Not wishing to attempt to sell any of it till I had made a thorough test, I have used it on my farm with the following results:

On a five-acre tract I applied the poison. First I inspected the cotton and found as many as twenty weevils to the row. After the first application I found the weevils had been reduced by ninety-five per cent. Having made a second application I hold a record of 50 cents for every weevil found on my tract, and 10 cents for every punctured square.

I am on my farm in the Bay district, 19 miles from Statesboro and six miles north of Pembroke.

If you are going to fight the boll weevil, go to it right away—and be sure to use Weevil-Nip.

MISS BESSIE BLITCH.

Miss Bessie Blitch, aged 35 years, died Tuesday morning at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Rushing, on South Main street, where she had made her home for several months.

For ten years Miss Blitch had been an invalid, and for a long time her condition had been acute. She bore her suffering patiently, and her happy disposition endeared her to those who came in contact with her during her long illness.

Interment was at Fellowship church cemetery, near Stillson, Wednesday afternoon, the services being conducted by the pastor, Rev. Mr. Kitchen, and Rev. W. D. Horton, former pastor. Her mother, who also lived with her at the Rushing home for a time, died only a short time ago. She is survived by six brothers—Chas. G. James H., T. N. and Sam Blitch of Blitchton, B. D. Blitch, of Brooklet, and and B. E. Blitch of Homerville.

Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Denmark, who have made their home in Athens during the past year while Mr. Denmark attended law school, are in Statesboro for the summer.

MEETING AT BROOKLET PRIMITIVE CHURCH.

The Primitive Baptists of Brooklet will hold their annual meeting beginning Sunday night, June 17th, and continuing through the following Sunday. Elder W. A. Pinkstaff, of Fayetteville, Tenn., will do the preaching. We invite you to come. R. H. KENNEDY, Pastor.

COUNTY AGENT IS WANTED FOR BULLOCH

PETITION SCHOOL BOARD TO EMPLOY MAN TO LEAD ORGANIZATION WORK.

If the progressive farmers of Bulloch county will lend their aid to an effort which has just put under way, Bulloch county will have an active county agent next year to lead in the various important phases of community organization so badly needed for this county.

The business men of Statesboro, following along lines which have been under consideration for the Statesboro Advertising Club since its inception two years ago, have this week put in motion the effort which promises to bring the question to an early conclusion. This effort consists of sounding the sentiment of the farmers of the county with a view to ascertaining their wishes in the matter. Committee have canvassed practically every section of the county and have asked farmers and business men as they came to them to sign cards expressing their preferences for or against the employment of a county agent. The results have been overwhelming in favor of the proposition.

Those who are advocating the employment of such an agent, are doing so upon the strength of the work which at this time is being done in other counties by such employee. Almost every daily paper one picks up there is an important instance of service rendered by "the county agent" in some progressive county of Georgia.

FOREIGN EMIGRANTS LOOKING SOUTHWARD

BIG OPPORTUNITIES ARE OFFERED TO THRIFTY FARMERS IN GEORGIA.

Atlanta, June 19.—That many immigrants could be induced to locate in the South if they were intelligently informed of the advantages this section offers is the opinion expressed here today by industrial leaders and agriculturists.

Discussion of the subject has arisen as the result of the negro exodus in Georgia and other southern states, which is said to have crippled farming operations in many sections.

If a campaign of any size were to be undertaken, which has been suggested, advertising truthful information should be placed before the people of those countries from which immigrants are desired, it is pointed out, so that when the people left their native countries they would come directly to the South.

Southern senators have conferred with the Swedish and Norwegian ministers in Washington, in regard to interesting them in having natives of their countries locate in the South. It was stated that although many immigrants of the two countries have come to the United States in the recent past, they went to the Middle West as a latitude similar to that from which they came. These immigrants were said to be good farmers and a great many of them experts in cattle raising, dairying and other farm activities; in other words, they are prepared to carry on agriculture other than cotton raising.

Agriculturists from various sections of Georgia who have discussed the matter here do not hesitate to say that the immigrants described are the kind that the South could well use. They not only come as experienced farmers, but they usually come with sufficient money to buy farms. And above all, they are naturally good citizens and easily assimilated in the South.

Cattle raising and dairying on a commercial scale, experts here say, might be said to be in their infancy in this state, but these industries have been carried far enough to prove that they may be profitably engaged in here. Many Georgia farmers are gradually turning to these lines and using them to good account now, and the locating in Georgia and other southern states of a goodly number of people experienced in the work would give these industries an impetus that would enrich the state as a whole and the rural sections in particular.

There is plenty of room in Georgia for good citizens, and the state is being established good homes and producing wealth. Several Georgia counties—Wilkes county in particular, are waging intensive campaigns to bring new settlers. Options on many thousand acres of land have been placed by the Kiwanis Club of Washington, Ga., in the state by establishing good homes and producing wealth.

HARDWICK WORKING ON HIS LAST MESSAGE

ADDRESS TO DEAL LARGELY WITH QUESTION OF ECONOMY

Atlanta, June 17.—Governor Thomas W. Hardwick, upon his return to office yesterday, plunged into the final preparation of his last message to the general assembly, which he will deliver in person, probably on Friday following the organization of the two branches on Wednesday, June 27.

From time to time in the past, couple of months the governor, in talks from which he has allowed news stories to be written, has given a pretty complete outline of the message, which will deal most directly with need for state appropriations to extend the possibility of making sweeping reductions in the state's number of employees and the elimination of certain of the departments. In all probability the most pointed and direct references will be made to three departments; in a recommendation that the state railroad commission be composed of five members, now reduced at least to three, on the ground that the records show there is not enough work to keep the board engaged all the time, as is required by the present law; that the state department of archives and history be abolished and that work be made a part of a bureau in the state library; that the state motor commission be not a necessary now, and can be merged as a bureau in the state library, and that the number of state fertilizer and oil inspectors be reduced.

The most spirited recommendations, it is understood, will be applied to the agricultural department, which some of the political followers believe to be in the nature of a hangover from the last election and campaigns, in which that department and the governor were on opposing sides. The development of that series of recommendations into a legislative fight, however, will undoubtedly be met with an equally spirited opposition again, and with a mass of matter to combat the governor's arguments. It is understood that citations will be made from other states to bear out the arguments Governor Hardwick will make on the subject of his proposed reductions, and these will be met with a showing of differences of opinions and similar policies in those states.

As a statistical document, dealing with the state's fiscal affairs, it is understood the governor's final message will be the most important and probably the most comprehensive paper from his pen during his administration.

Governor-elect Walker, during the visit to Atlanta this week, made the statement that he has not yet completed the draft of his inaugural message, but will have it in shape probably by the end of next week. While he has not outlined for public consumption just what the address will contain, it is known he will make it the keynote of his administration policy, but it is a safe venture that he will not deal at random with the various state questions, rather confining himself to concentrating himself on what it is understood he believes to be the biggest and most important issue at this time—tax reform.

The governor-elect has not made known just what plan he has for writing a new tax system, but in all his speeches has made it plain that it is necessary to devise a system which will bring the invisible property on the books for taxation in order that the real property may be relieved of part of its present burden. Some time ago the governor-elect gave out an interview in which he very strongly inclined to an income tax system, but subsequently said he did not intend to convey the impression that he advocates an income tax, but rather that he was issuing a word of caution that if the business people of the state do not act in bringing the invisible property on the tax books an income tax will be written by the legislature.

His most definite assertion on his regular session does not meet an acceptable law to the people of the state as a whole, he stands prepared and ready to call the back in extraordinary session to do that.

Next week is the last before the convening of the 1923 session, and by the week-end the legislative activities will have gotten pretty well underway along the line of advance wire-pulling and line-up.

CROP CONDITIONS IN THE SOUTHEAST

WEATHER HAS BEEN VERY UNFAVORABLE THROUGHOUT COTTON REGION.

Atlanta, June 18.—Weather conditions were very unfavorable in the southern part of the cotton region where heavy weevil infestation and marked deterioration occurred during the last two weeks, according to the southeastern fortnightly crop review issued here today by the United States Department of Agriculture.

Weevils are reported in all sections of Georgia and South Carolina, according to the report which is compiled from the reports of statisticians in North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, Alabama, Florida and Georgia. While still late, the crop is well cultivated and improving in North Carolina, making fair progress in South Carolina and the northern half of Georgia. Planting is now about finished in the northern limits of the region, chopping is slow and fields grassy in Tennessee.

North Carolina corn is progressing nicely, being in good cultivation and having been benefited by the rains the latter part of the period, the report said. Planting continues in Tennessee, northern half of Georgia and in the central and northern counties of South Carolina, where the crop is extremely backward.

Conditions of winter wheat, according to the report in Tennessee is generally good, damage by rain, rust and Hessian fly not being serious. North Carolina reports good prospects, the crop holding up better than was expected. Georgia and South Carolina conditions are given in the report fair to good, with a portion of the crop harvested.

The report declares greater portion of the oat crop has been harvested in Georgia and South Carolina, conditions being good in northern Georgia as a rule, and the South Georgia crop was harvested under favorable weather conditions.

Tobacco transplanting is drawing to a close in Tennessee, the report said, after considerable delay in work of preparation. Condition is quite variable in North Carolina and the outlook uncertain. Good growth and development is being made in Georgia and South Carolina, although there has been much rain to insure the best quality. Plants have made excellent growth in Florida, where clear weather is now needed for harvesting.

The report declares the watermelon yield will be light as result of rains and disease, and commercial crop is moving fast.

Planting of sweet potatoes continues under favorable conditions. Early potato crop is being harvested in Florida. Irish potatoes how good yields in Georgia and South Carolina. North Carolina reports a good considerably less than last year, with the movement more than half over.

Production of tomatoes in South Florida was cut short by rains, it was said.

Condition of citrus trees is good with splendid prospects for next season, the report averred. Early bunches are beginning to ripen in Florida. Prospects for berries are excellent in Tennessee, Georgia and South Carolina.

THREE BULLOCH BOYS STUDENTS AT TECH

Atlanta, June 20.—Three Bulloch county boys have completed their year's work at Georgia School of Technology. Two are from Statesboro, Robert P. Mikell, son of W. W. Mikell, and Frank Moore, son of Sam Moore. The third is Roscoe Warnock, son of C. H. Warnock of Stillman.

Moore will begin his sophomore year next fall in the electrical engineering department, while Mikell will be a junior. Moore completed his high school work at the Statesboro High School. He is a member of the Sigma Nu fraternity. He attended the Ponce De Leon Baptist Sunday school. Mikell attended the Georgia Military College, Milledgeville, before entering Tech. He is a member of the St. Marks Sunday school.

Warnock will be a sophomore in the co-operative department. In this department students combine classroom work with practical work in industry, spending alternate months in class and as employee of some Georgia industry. He completed his preparatory work at the Guyton High School, Guyton, Ga.

All departments at Tech have been overcrowded during the past year, due to the limit on teaching staff, resulting from the small appropriations made by the state. Unless the appropriations are increased for the next year it will be necessary to limit enrollment with the result that probably from three to four hundred applicants for admission to the freshman class will be turned away.

The per capita appropriation for Tech students from the state during the present year was only $61.77, less than one-third the total cost of operation with the utmost economy.

MAGAZINE SUBSCRIPTIONS. Having returned to Statesboro after an absence of several months, I am again prepared to accept subscriptions to magazines and periodicals as in the past. I shall appreciate any business in that line given me.

MISS LUCY McLEMORE.

NOTICE. Just a few lines to my customer and friends: I wish to state right here that we are doing all we can at all times to give the best service we can, but unless we have the help of our milk men in cleaning and setting out bottles each night, it makes it very hard on us, as it is expensive to have so much money expended in the expense of any business until they organize it.

Now, there is no business that can continue to run always losing money. Hoping you will all consider what we have said and help us in our expense as it will benefit each of us.

Thanking you for your past patronage and soliciting more in the future. Yours truly, AKINS DAIRY. (24nov16) Phone No. 3923.

HAPPENINGS AROUND NEW YORK TOWN

(By Matt G. Perkins)

New York, June 18.—Down in Georgia, and out in New York state as well, local making money is down in the parlay or in a lane by the edge of a shady brook. But it isn't every girl in New York city that can have the exclusive use of the parlay. And, of course, shady lanes are not plentiful up here either.

But little things like the absence of exclusive parties and shady lanes doesn't stop the business of love-making, particularly at this time of the year. The question is easily solved by going into the parks where no one gives a hoot. The lovers are oblivious to the rest of the world and the rest of the world has business of its own. So everybody is usually satisfied.

But we noticed the other day one exception. The exception was Tony, a bootblack in Madison Square. Tony is a happy-go-lucky fellow who can be as good as time as he is a minute. He wears a shirt, and he looks at you with such an innocent face that you probably wouldn't have the heart to swat him. Instead you probably would sit down on a bench and read your paper while the shoes are shined.

But about this love stuff. The scene we observed as we were walking through the park the other afternoon was something like this: A youth gazed rapturously into the dark eyes of his lady love. Their faces were close together and in the approved fashion they were quite oblivious to the throng that passed close by them. Suddenly there was a burst of song. It was not confined to one key but seemed to run the whole gamut of melody. Joyous as a lark it now above the monotony of street noises, and everybody looked around to see what was coming off. It wasn't any trouble to locate the sound. Tony himself had decided to sing. The bootblack was holding a very operative one. One hand was over his heart and with the other he waved his shoe-brush and zipped away his head. When he reached the climax of his song—so far as noise was concerned—he moved from behind the couple. He had decided to sing and you, directly behind the young couple, and when he came from behind them they were conscious of the serenade that had been given them.

Tony approached one of the listeners. "Shine, mister," he said. "Oh, I guess so," came back the prospective customer.

Tony had hardly more than started on the job before he was asked by his patron why the dickens he had burst out in song.

"You like da song?" asked Tony, interested.

"Can't say that I like it especially, but of course I've heard worse," the customer replied.

Tony by this time was all smiles. He saw that he was going to get a chance to talk a little. He was bubbling over with jolliness, so he decided to tarry a moment and see what he was going to say. And this is pretty nearly exactly what he said.

"Ah, but that was a beautiful song. That was the song d'amore—the song of love. I sing it for this bimbo and that girl over there. I know the signs. In a little while they get married. I sing him da serenata. E's happy, she's happy; I get happy, too. I look da flowers, I look da sun, and I look da love birds over there, so I get da feeling in my heart. That makes me glad and it makes me sad. I joosta have to sing da song."

"But why the sorrow?" the customer asked.

"Oh," said Tony, "It makes me so sad to think what a dunce that sunnava-gun over there is. Now he's happy, soon he gets married, I'm like that myself once upon a time. I'm like that poor fool. My heart sings da song d'amore all day long. But now I gotta four kids."

Tony gave a sigh, and we turned quickly away and walked rapidly to make up lost time. We had heard enough.

CARD OF THANKS. We desire to thank our kind friends and neighbors for their loving kindness and words of sympathy during the sickness and sad death of our darling little baby. Also the beautiful funeral offerings. May God's richest blessings rest upon them all. Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Clanton.

CARD OF THANKS. We take this method to thank the many friends who were so nice and kind to us during the long illness and death of our husband and father. We also wish to thank the undertaker for his kindness and services, and especially the physician, Dr. Olliff, who was so faithful throughout the long illness. We pray God's richest blessings upon you all. Mrs. J. Green and Family.

NEGROES ARE ROYALLY RECEIVED IN NORTH

LANDLORDS ARE REAPING RICH HARVEST FROM RENTS IN THE CROWDED QUARTERS.

Cincinnati, O., June 18.—Southern negroes who have migrated to Cincinnati are being sought to the limit by the landlords in the negro districts of those cities. Some of them are being charged as much as ten dollars a week for one room and three or four families are living in houses built for one because of the extreme congestion in the negro quarters.

In addition, prejudice among both the native whites and foreigners against the negro immigrants is rapidly rising, and is expected to grow even greater. This is particularly true among the whites who live near the negro districts and as a result have been thrown in close contact with them.

These facts were disclosed today by Ben W. Overton, executive secretary of the negro Y. M. C. A. of Cincinnati and an authority on negro conditions in the city. Dr. John L. McLeish, director of the American House of Mohawk diet where the foreign-born live, also disclosed that dislike of the southern negro was growing among the foreign-born unskilled laborers with whom they are in competition.

The negro quarters in Cincinnati are largely located down along the Ohio river front in what is known as "The Bottoms," in which, according to the police, as many as 365 persons have been killed in the course of one year. Each year this district is partially or entirely flooded and the negroes have to seek safety in other sections of the city until the river recedes. Many negroes have been drowned by these floods.

The migration of the southern negro to the north has fearfully congested these quarters and many of the negroes born and reared in the warm climate of the south, have fallen prey to consumption and other diseases caused by the cold and congestion. It is impossible to estimate the number of southern negroes who have died, and health conditions among them are described as "very bad."

Because of the high rents charged by the owners of the negro tenement houses ranging as high as ten dollars a week for one room, the southern negro, when he is lucky enough to have a job has to spend all he makes for rent and what little remains is soon consumed for a meager amount of food. The jobless negroes have to sleep in the open when it is warm enough and seek shelter in the cells at the police station in the long period of cold weather.

THEY ALL DEMAND IT. People with kidney ailments want to be cured. When one suffers the tortures of an aching back, relief is eagerly sought for. There are many remedies today that relieve, but do not cure. Doan's Kidney Pills have brought lasting results to thousands. Here is Statesboro evidence of their merit:

W. R. Ogelsby, carpenter, 301 West Main street, says: "My kidneys were in bad condition. I had severe pains in the small of my back which became so bad I could hardly walk. I was nearly past going. My kidneys acted every few minutes, and the secretions burned in passage. Some nights I had to get up five or six times. I read about Doan's Kidney Pills and bought a box at E. J. Drug Store. Doan's helped me right away and one box cured me after other remedies had failed."

18,000 DAYS

More than half a century ago, the Clausens began baking bread with the determination of giving to the South the most WHOLESOME, ECONOMIC, SANITARY LOAF POSSIBLE. This loaf soon became so famous that people in other sections demanded it and thus was started the first shipments of commercial bread in the South.

Still, after 60 years of baking, the same determination is predominant in the Clausen plant — now perhaps the largest and most scientifically equipped in the entire South; and now, more than ever before, the superiority of Clausen's bread stands out and makes it the MOST SOUGHT AFTER LOAF IN ITS COMMUNITY.

JUDGED BY ITS FRIENDS.

One Mr. Arnold, representative in the Georgia legislature from Lumpkin county, has given notice of his intention to introduce in the next session of the legislature a bill to repeal or amend the present state prohibition law.

The inference is that his measure will be along the same general lines that recently passed through the New York legislature, which simply amounted to a withdrawal of state co-operation in the fight against the liquor traffic.

A considerable volume of argument has been advanced in approval of these various changes in the status of prohibition enforcement. Many seem to be impressed that attempts of both the state and federal government to control the liquor traffic are the cause of confusion which may be avoided by the withdrawal of state control. It is from this class that the most enthusiastic endorsement of the Arnold proposition will be heard.

It may be only a coincidence, but it is nevertheless true that most of the endorsement of the Arnold proposition, as well as the recent New York development, comes from those who have in the former years not been noted for their advocacy of any sort of prohibition enforcement, either state or federal. Analyze it as you will, this fact seems to lead directly to the conclusion that these late attempts toicker with the existing laws are the work of enemies of prohibition instead of its friends.

If one is entitled to judge from outward appearances, the opponents of prohibition are attempting to make changes which will bring conditions to their liking. It seems fair to judge any measure by its friends; therefore we are keeping a lookout for those who are trying to take the lead in these new movements. If it should develop that they are true prohibitionists, we may consent that they are safe to follow. We are going to judge these reforms by the friends who sponsor them. If it isn't fair to do that, then we do not know what fairness is.

REPELLING THE WEEVILS.

Uncle Math Hendrix was a rather antique citizen who lived in the neighborhood of Pulaski a quarter of a century ago. As one evidence of his peculiarity, he drank a quart of sweetened water every meal—breakfast, dinner and supper.

At his home one day he delivered a dissertation upon the lightning rod which was just then taking a strange hold upon the country.

"There's nothing to it," he boys' there's nothing to it. If them there rods would draw lightning, why in thunder don't they place 'em on poles and draw the lightning' away from the house instead of to it?"

And we couldn't answer his question. Can you?

New here has sprung up another doubt in the arena. He writes in the Macon Telegraph about the "secret attractions" which are said to be placed in some of the poisons to draw weevils to their death. Skeptical in the extreme, he asks, "If that thing will draw, why not spread it outside the cotton field and draw them out in the woods?"

And that man has stumped us again.

Following the propounding of that question, he proceeds in a vein which may be intended as humor. "I have found," he says, "that the boll weevil is much easier to repel than to attract. Hence I decided that if you must use the poison to kill the weevil after attracting him to his death, that it would be more economical for the farmer to have a mixture that would drive the weevil away from his cotton instead of one that would attract the weevil from the other fellow's fields. I am satisfied I have the remedy. Where any farmer is going to use as much as enough of this mixture of mine to poison ten acres of cotton, I will give him the secret so he can go ahead and make his own mixture. It will take something more than rain to destroy my remedy."

The writer signs himself, "T. W. W., Thomson, Ga." He may be a humorist instead of a philanthropist. Certain it is, however, he has raised an important question when he asks, why not drive the weevil away rather than attract him to your cotton?

HIGH SCHOOL GRADS HOLD CLASS REUNION

The first feature of the reunion was the gathering at the old High School building Wednesday evening, when the program of that memorable event of ten years ago was repeated. Every detail of the old occasion was made as complete as possible. Prof. G. E. Usher, who was superintendent of the school at that time, called the roll and those present answered to their names.

The living members of the class are Myrtle Anderson (Mrs. Carson L. Jones), Cora Blitch (Mrs. Harry W. Smith), John Bogen, Lester Brannen, Maybelle Brunson, Edie Denmark (Mrs. Frarie Waters), Charlie Donaldson, Bonnie Ford (Mrs. Bruce Atkins), Bonnie Ford (Mrs. Bruce Atkins), Mary Lee Jones (Mrs. E. G. Crumartie), Durance Kennedy, Herbert Kennedy, Cleo Lee (Mrs. Wilton Hodges), Kathleen McCroan, Jessie Olliff (Mrs. Barney Averitt), Pearl Parrish (Mrs. Dudley Davis), Ruth Parrish (Mrs. Charlie Donaldson), Hattie Powell, Julia Quattlebaum, Rupert Backley, Billy Rensch, Lena Belle Smith (Mrs. Inman Foy), Horace Smith, Townsman Wernock, Hermo Suddath, Maude Woods, Joe Zetterower and Tom Zetterower.

Those who failed to answer to the roll call were Mrs. Fleming, Mrs. Hodges, Julian Quattlebaum, Rev. Backley, Townsman Wernock, Miss Woods and Joe Zetterower.

Two members of the class, Lamar Donaldson and Pierce Register, are not living, they having met death together one winter night nearly seven years ago when they drove into a ditch across the road between Statesboro and Blitch. Vacant chairs were placed in the class for these absent members and beautiful words of tribute were spoken by Prof. Usher in their memory.

Prof. Usher is accompanied by his wife, who was also a member of the High School faculty. Other members of the faculty were Miss Dr. Sharpe and Harold D. Meyer. Neither of these are present.

FOR BRIDE-ELECT.

The lower floor of the home was thrown together and beautifully decorated with bright flowers and rich pot plants.

Mrs. Brooks Simmons was hostess at a lovely bridge party complimentary to Miss Annie Sharpe Garrett, a popular bride of last Wednesday.

Five tables were arranged for the games.

The rooms were attractively decorated with bright garden flowers. Five tables were arranged for bridge. Miss Garrett wore a model of tan canton crepe with a corsage of sweetheart roses.

A pretty compliment to Miss Annie Sharpe Garrett, whose marriage to Mr. Joseph Lee Brown occurred last Wednesday evening, was when Mrs. W. H. Sharpe and Mrs. H. Dell Anderson entertained at the home of Mrs. Sharpe, on Zetterower avenue.

CHILDREN'S DAY SUNDAY AT METHODIST CHURCH

The pastor and members of the Statesboro Methodist church are planning to take steps for the observance of a special service at the morning hour next Sunday. It will be children's day, and it is probable that the service will be the very best of the several that have been conducted for children during the year.

There will be from seventy-five to a hundred children to take part in the exercises. Those who have attended these special services for children, which have been held each month this year, know how very helpful they have been. Not only are they interesting and beneficial to the children, but the older people have enjoyed them greatly.

One of the new features of the program Sunday will be the administration of baptism to a number of infants in Statesboro, the children of Methodist parents, who will be presented for baptism.

Special music by the children, including songs, duets, solos, etc., will add greatly to the occasion. As usual in these services, the children will perform all parts except the short sermon by the pastor.

The subject for Sunday morning will be "Jesus and The Children." The pastor will give more than fifteen or twenty minutes to the discussion of this theme. Those who have heard his messages to children heretofore will go to church Sunday morning expecting to hear something really worth while.

An invitation is extended to every child in the city to be present, and seats will be reserved to have them all seated in a body. Young men and young women should attend. There will be instruction, inspiration and encouragement for them. Those who attend should endeavor to be in their places by or before 11:30 o'clock, which is the hour to begin.

AT MT. CARMEL.

Revival services will begin at Mt. Carmel church, in the Lockhart district, on the second Sunday July, the 28th. Rev. H. P. Langlois, the pastor, will preach. The public is cordially invited to attend the services.

SERVICES CLOSE AT PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Revival services at the Presbyterian church, which had been on for ten days, came to a close last evening. Rev. M. Scott, of Valdosta, assisted the pastor. There were a large number of accessions to the church during the services.

At the close of the annual meeting of the First District Dental Society held in Savannah this week it was decided that Statesboro would have the honor of entertaining the convention next year.

This organization is composed of wide-awake men of the profession, and will prove to be another step forward in Statesboro's usual line of progress.

LOCAL METHODIST PASTOR TO ASSIST IN REVIVAL

Rev. Leland Moore, pastor of the Statesboro Methodist church, will do the preaching during a special series of evangelistic services which begin next Sunday at Guyton. He will leave Sunday afternoon and will be away for a week or ten days.

Arrangements have been made for his pulpit to be filled during his absence. Next Sunday evening, Rev. H. G. Kenney, of the local Presbyterian church, will preach, and the Presbyterian congregation will worship with the Methodists.

Both services Sunday, July 1st, will be conducted by Dr. J. M. Glenn, of Savannah.

LEGION TO BUILD NEW ATHLETIC FIELD

The local post of the American Legion decided at their last meeting to take steps for the building of a new athletic field which will be one of pride for Statesboro. It is their plan to obtain a ten-year lease on a commodious grand stand with a fence completely enclosing the grounds. It is their intention to spend about $1,500 in the erection of the field and propose to raise the necessary funds by entertainments and shows from which they will receive part of the proceeds. The fence, which will be of galvanized iron, will be sold for advertising space and it is expected to raise part of the proceeds from this source.

While the new athletic field will not be materialized in time for use during the season, the Legion is organizing a strong baseball team who will challenge neighboring towns for games as soon as they are in trim for the contests.

Mr. Barney Averitt has been elected manager of the team, and he requests all those interested in the success of the team to come out for practice.

From the last report sent out by the state headquarters the local post was leading in the membership campaign with a total of 98. A large silver loving cup will be given to the post having the best membership. Toccoa, Ga., comes second with a membership of 70 and Milledgeville with 53. This contest closes July 1st and all prospective members should join by that time so that the delegates from the Statesboro post will be able to report them as new members when

DENVER MOTHER IS AGAINST BIRTH CONTROL

Denver, Co., June 18.—The right of a mother to have as many children as she wants has been won by Mrs. Clyde Cossidente, wife of an Italian entrepreneur of Denver. She gave birth to a baby boy Sunday after a difficult and painful labor, and declared she should have no more children.

Nineteen months ago a national controversy was precipitated over the recommendation of the authorities that an operation be performed upon the mother to prevent the birth of any more children. It was cited she was unable to give the little ones adequate care. The recommendation was made in the local juvenile court. The mother, defiant, faced her accusers and exclaimed:

"I'll show you; I'll have another child if I wish it."

She fulfilled the challenge Sunday when she brought into the world nine-pound William, named after her own father.

It was charged that the Cossident family was in an insanitary condition and that the five children, Mary, 10; George, 8; Ellen, 6; Clyde, 4, and Marie, 2 years old, were not receiving proper care from the mother. At the time Dr. Ray Sutherland testified that in his opinion it would be better for the mother and children if they could be left together, but he urged that Mrs. Cossidente be stopped from bearing more children.

"She declared she'd have another child, and she did," the husband said Sunday night as he stood by the crib of the newest arrival and proudly displayed the infant.

"Yes, and I'll have still more children, if I wish them," interrupted Mrs. Cossidente with the same amount of vim and defiance that she used in juvenile court 19 months ago.

WARNING.

On and after June 1st, 1923, the script issued from the office of the State Board of Health, and are hereby notified, not intended as such, will be redeemed from employees only, payment of merchandise bought in our commissary.

SOME FACTS ABOUT THE ELLIS HEALTH LAW

AND THE NEED OF COUNTY HEALTH WORK.

1. The adoption of the Ellis Health Law in our county means the employment of a specially trained medical health officer who devotes his entire time to the business of looking after health and sanitation. The law also provides for the employment of public health nurses and sanitary inspectors as assistants to the health officer, where desired. The nurse assistant, with the school medical inspection, help to arrange for the correction of defects, and, with the health officer, reach mothers and infants, especially among the poorer classes, through the medium of child health centers, mothers' classes and home visits.

2. About 50,000 school children receive medical inspection each year through the operation of this law. About 4,000 with handicapping defects receive correction of treatment.

3. The commission of health, operating under the Ellis Health Law, have free of charge 77,000 doses of anti typhoid vaccine in 1922.

4. In 1921 and 1922, 4,500 sanitary privies were installed by the commission of health. Dysentery, hook worm and summer diarrhoea of infants will not be controlled by any other method in the rural districts.

5. There is annually in Georgia a great sacrifice of human life on the part of infants during the first year of life. In 1921, 1,230 infants under two years of age died of dysentery and diarrhoea. During their hours of life, effort to establish new life in this world, more than 500 would be mothers made the supreme sacrifice.

6. Those who have many other lives might have been saved if well organized health departments, well manned by a well equipped personnel, had been established in each county of the state.

7. COST. This in dollars and cents is about one-tenth of the actual amount it saves the people.

8. The health officer will adopt the Ellis Health Law and put it into operation promptly. It is possible for the State Board of Health to give financial assistance toward the maintenance of a public health nurse, over a period of two years. Visit the State Board of Health, 121 Capitol Square, and talk it over, or write.

GEORGIA STATE BOARD OF HEALTH.

FREE REMEDY FOR HOOKWORM

So many people in Georgia have hook worm and do not know it. So many people have their health impaired from this blood sucker and are in danger of being below par, owing to its feasting on blood from our State Board of Health makes diagnosis of this condition free of charge for the physicians of the State; not only this, but they have just announced a new remedy for the eradication of this parasite. It is technically known as Carbon Tetrachloride. It is very much like chloroform; it is practically harmless where it is chemically pure and given by the State Board of Health. It is as nearly a specific as it is possible for a remedy to be; no preparation of the patient is necessary, no purgative necessary to be given after the dose, as the remedy itself is a purgative. It does not taste bad, and is given in a little water; it does no harm even if you have no hook worm. The remedy is now in stock and is furnished the physicians free of charge. If your child is pale, listless, complains of pain in the bowels, is restless at night and has other symptoms of worms, have your family doctor see it and give it this remedy. If he is not sure of the presence of worms, get him to send the State Board of Health a small piece of the child's stool and you will get a report right back telling you if the child has worms. This is possible because the worms are constantly laying eggs, and by taking a small portion of the stool of the child and preparing it properly, like it is done by the State Board of Health, it is easy to find the eggs. Eggs of different kinds of worms are not alike, and the microscope tells the expert trained eye of the physician who must of course the individual has. This examination, as well as the remedy, Carbon Tetrachloride, is free.

Every baby before it is one year old should be made immune of diphtheria. It is simple and not painful, does not cause severe reaction of any sort. The Toxin-Antitoxin can be given by your family physician and your child is protected against this awful disease for life. Give it early in life, you are responsible for the health of your baby; relieve yourself of the responsibility of the danger of diphtheria.

We need protection against our neighbors who are not sanitary, who do not keep their premises clean, and who will not take proper care of their infectious and contagious diseases.

Smallpox, a most heinous disease, is no respecter of persons. The only child who is protected against it is the individual who has been successfully vaccinated.

After the First 24 Hours

The delicate systems of those fluffy baby chicks are supplied by nature with food for the first two days. Then their sensitive digestive organs must be given a very carefully prepared food. Countless chicks die every year because the feed they receive is not suited to their needs.

Purina Chicken Chowder and Purina Baby Chick Chow

supply every element needed in feeding the chicks from the very first feed. Many years of experience in poultry feeding are back of these Chowders.

So sure are the makers of these Chowders that they will produce results that they guarantee double development or money back on the Chowders when fed as directed the first six weeks.

KENNEDY—HAGAN.

A beautiful occasion was the marriage of Miss Ruth Hagan and Mr. Barnie Lee Kennedy, on Monday evening, June 18th, at 8:30 o'clock, at the country home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Hagan. The rooms were beautiful in their decoration of bamboo, moss and shasta daisies, the color scheme being yellow and white. An improvised altar, banked with pot plants and baskets of daisies with unsanded yellow tapers were used. More than seventy-five relatives and friends witnessed the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. E. K. Gardner, pastor of the Methodist church of the Brooklet-New Hope circuit.

Miss Bertha Hagan, sister of the bride, rendered Mendelssohn's bridal chorus as a processional and Trauermusik while the service was being said. Miss Annie Laurie Turner, the bride's cousin, sang, "O Promise Me," presiding the ceremony and "At Home" after.

The flower girl, little Evelyn Simmons, a cousin of the bride, carried a basket of white and yellow shasta daisies.

The bride and groom entered the parlor together, standing beneath an arch of flowers while the beautiful ring ceremony was being said.

The bride was attired in a brown traveling suit with accessories to match. Her corsage was bridal roses and valley lilies.

Throughout the evening punch was served by Miss Louise Hagan and Miss Margaret Turner. After the ceremony cake and cream were served, the favors being shasta daisies.

Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy left by auto for Savannah, from where, after a few days, they will return to Atlanta, where Mr. Kennedy is employed in the postal service.

The young people are both exceedingly popular in Bulloch county. They were graduates together from the First District Agricultural college in 1920. Mr. Kennedy is a son of Judge and Mrs. H. B. Kennedy, of the Register neighborhood.

BROWN—GARRETT.

A marriage of unusual interest was that of Miss Annie Sharpe Garrett and Mr. Joseph Lee Brown, of Jonesboro, Ark., which was solemnized last Wednesday evening, June 13th, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Garrett, on North Main street.

The Rev. L. L. Moore, pastor of the Methodist church, officiating.

The improvised altar was formed of ferns, palms and southern smilax, and at each end were Marie Antoinette baskets filled with carnations. Silver candelabra, holding burning tapers, cast a soft glow over the scene.

Just before the ceremony Mrs. A. H. Parker sang "Because I Love You, Dear," and just before the minister's blessing she sang, "O Perfect Love."

To the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, played by Miss Margaret McKenny, of Macon, the bridal party entered.

The maid of honor, Miss Eugenia Garrett, sister of the bride, was a picture of loveliness in a gown of pink georgette and carried a shower of Ophelia roses and valley lilies.

The bride entered with her father, who gave her in marriage. She was regally beautiful in a gown of real lace richly beaded in pearls. Her flowing veil was caught to her hair with orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of valley lilies and orchids.

The ushers were Mr. Randolph Cooper and Mr. Grady Johnston.

Mrs. Garrett, mother of the bride, wore a model of maize beaded lace. Her corsage was pink roses and valley lilies. Mrs. Brown, mother of the groom, wore a gown of richly beaded black georgette. Her corsage was pink roses and valley lilies.

After the ceremony a reception was held.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown left for an eastern trip. They will be at home in Jonesboro, Ark., after July 15.

FOR VISITOR.

A pretty social event of Thursday afternoon was when Mrs. H. F. Hook entertained at bridge complimentary to her visitor, Mrs. Albert Thompson, of Atlanta.

Baskets and bowls of fragrant flowers decorated the rooms where the merry guests were entertained. Thirteen tables were arranged for the game.

J. Conrad Mitchell, of Savannah, is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Morgan Mitchell, on Broad street.

"This is a condition and not a theory. Our figures substantiate in a very large measure the inquiry made under the supervision of Dr. Andrew M. Soule, of the State College of Agriculture, conducted under similar conditions. He found that approximately 80,000 negroes had left Georgia, while our inquiry discloses 77,400. The difference might be explained by the tendency on the part of the bankers to be more conservative in their estimate."

"In addition to the number which have left since the first inquiry, it might be added those who left during the years of 1920-21-22, making in all 228,938, a number larger than the population of the city of Atlanta. The fact that more than one-third of those have left within the past three months indicates that the exodus is in the increase. Should the present rate continue during the remainder of the year, the number of negroes leaving Georgia this year will equal the population of one of our congressional districts, or ten of our average Middle Georgia counties."

"Our reports indicate that the railroads in one of the cities of the state have sold more than 3,000 tickets to negroes going to the industrial north and east since January 1 of this year. This number, of course, was included in the total mentioned above. When we take into consideration that the negro population in Georgia increased only 30,000 from 1910 to 1920, it brings to our attention the fact that the negro population of Georgia now is possibly less than it has been since 1890. It seems apparent that this will continue so long as conditions here remain as they are at present and the industrial north and east offer higher wages and better living conditions."

"It is useless to talk about labor agents or undertake to legislate against their activities. It did not require labor agents to take from Ireland almost one-half of her population and transplant them on the shores of North America. Superior living conditions and better wages did this. It was of the fact that Ireland could stop letter-writing between the Irish emigrants and the home people, it would be an effective means of retarding emigrants. I do not think that the activities of the labor agents have much to do with the emigration that is going on now, as we have very few negroes now in Ireland and a conference was held at the fall today between the three lawyers and the accused man."

The testimony of only one witness—that of the woman alleged to have been attacked—was heard by the grand jury before the true bill was returned.

Several plantations near the landing field have been mapped and all arguments have been made for dusting the cotton with the planes. The results of the new tests will be awaited with interest by all those connected with the cotton industry.

Previously considerable work on this problem had been done with light machines, and the use of the larger ones has made it necessary to modify the distributing mechanism. Several types of dust hoppers have been made for meeting the new conditions, but it will probably require some time to develop a design which will be satisfactory. Mr. Coad, who has charge of the boll weevil laboratory for the Department of Agriculture, expects to have a fairly satisfactory permanent hopper installed in one of the planes for use in actual control work during the summer.

GEORGIA FARMS DROP $27,000,000 IN VALUE

BANKERS ASSOCIATION FINDS 43,383 NEGROES HAVE LEFT NINETEEN-TWO COUNTIES.

Atlanta, June 24.—Reports to the Georgia Bankers' Association from ninety-two of the 100 counties show 43,383 negroes have left those counties this year. The same counties report that 15,760 white people have left the farms. Other counties reporting in percentages indicate that the same general average applies to practically every county in the state. On the same system of percentages, it is found that 77,500 negroes have left Georgia this year, and 29,513 white people have left the farms of the state. During the three-year period of 1920, 1921 and 1922, it is further shown that 151,438 negroes had left the state for the north—a grand total of 228,938 for the past three and one-half years. This exodus of negroes to the north and of the white people to the cities leaves 46,974 white farms and 46,974 in Georgia and 55,524 idle plows, estimating thirty acres to the plow. The labor shortage on the farms of Georgia, June 15, 1923, as established by the same questionnaire, is 70,843. Conditions are improving in 41 per cent of the counties reporting, are unchanged in 11 per cent of the counties, and 47 per cent of the area shows no improvement, meaning that the exodus continues from nearly one-half of the state.

James S. Peters, of Manchester, Ga., president of the Georgia Bankers' Association, who conducted this inquiry, makes the following comments and interpretation of figures: "This is a condition and not a theory. Our figures substantiate in a very large measure the inquiry made under the supervision of Dr. Andrew M. Soule, of the State College of Agriculture, conducted under similar conditions. He found that approximately 80,000 negroes had left Georgia, while our inquiry discloses 77,400. The difference might be explained by the tendency on the part of the bankers to be more conservative in their estimate."

"In addition to the number which have left since the first inquiry, it might be added those who left during the years of 1920-21-22, making in all 228,938, a number larger than the population of the city of Atlanta. The fact that more than one-third of those have left within the past three months indicates that the exodus is in the increase. Should the present rate continue during the remainder of the year, the number of negroes leaving Georgia this year will equal the population of one of our congressional districts, or ten of our average Middle Georgia counties."

"Our reports indicate that the railroads in one of the cities of the state have sold more than 3,000 tickets to negroes going to the industrial north and east since January 1 of this year. This number, of course, was included in the total mentioned above. "It is useless to talk about labor agents or undertake to legislate against their activities. It did not require labor agents to take from Ireland almost one-half of her population and transplant them on the shores of North America. Superior living conditions and better wages did this. It was of the fact that Ireland could stop letter-writing between the Irish emigrants and the home people, it would be an effective means of retarding emigrants.
